FIGHT DUEL WITHOUT WEAPONS

Greenville Farmer's Skull Beaten In With Fists and Stones.

Greenville, Oct. 7.—Between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock Saturday morning, out in the yard of a lonely farmhouse eight miles from Greenville, with none looking on but a single man and the pale harvest moon, three white men, one of them among the county's wealthiest citizens, fought a hand-to-hand duel with bare fists and stones until the skull of one was beaten into an almost unrecognizable mass with a rock. The coroner this afternoon, by virtue of the findings of the jury of inquest, issued a warrant charging B. Perry Edwards and Will Edwards, brothers, with the death of Robert Perry.

Perhaps because B. Perry Edwards can easily sign a check for $100,000 and is an influential citizen, he will not be arrested and brought to jail, according to the statement from a county official this afternoon. Mr. Edwards will come to town next Monday and see about arranging his bond. It is said. The brother, Will Edwards, is said to be too badly bruised to be removed from his home.

The quarrel took place in the yard of one Burl Hudson, who is a tenant on the farm of Robert Perry, the dead man. The gist of testimony adduced at the inquest this afternoon is to the effect that the Edwards brothers went to Burl Hudson's house Friday night about 8 o'clock to collect a bill from him. Perry lived about 300 yards from this man's house and was engaged until 11 o'clock that night in hauling forage to his barn from the fields. The only eye-witness to the affair said that he was on his porch while the Edwards brothers and Perry were in the yard; that suddenly he heard blows being passed and heard Will Edwards call for help. Looking about, the witness said he saw Will Edwards and Perry clinched; that Perry Edwards came to his brother's aid and the three locked again and fell to the ground. When the struggle ended the Edwards brothers arose, but Perry lay dead.

RICH CONVICT IN BIG COMEDY.

Efforts to Get Jug of Liquor May Mean Closer Confinement.

Greenville, Oct. 7.—Tully Babb, Greenville county's wealthy convict, who is now serving a five-year sentence on the chain gang for killing one T. W. Knight about two years ago, was the star actor in an amusing little drama enacted here to-day. Other characters were a patrolman, the county sheriff, the supervisor and a four-gallon jug of brandy.

Babb, who occupied the exalted position of "trustee" in chain gangdom, drove one of the county's teams around to the express office this afternoon and called for a four-gallon jug of brandy which he had ordered. Securing his jug, Babb strode back to the wagon to pursue the even tenor of his way when he was intercepted by a patrolman who had been placed at the express office to deprive questionable characters of any booze they might receive. Babb raised a great howl when that patrolman bore off that booze and followed the bluecoat to the police station. There the convict had a tilt with the chief, but did not secure his property. Later he made for the sheriff's office, and there "raised Cain" again. Babb's boss, the county supervisor, happened along about this time and had Tully arrested and placed in jail. The supervisor says he is going to send Babb to the penitentiary to serve the balance of his term.

Besides owning property in the city valued at about $40,000, Babb owns a fine plantation in the lower part of the county valued at about $10,000.

of murder, bond in the sum of $10,000 was given this afternoon by B. Perry and Wm. S. Edwards, brothers, and wealthy farmers, charged with causing the death of Robert Perry last Saturday morning. In addition to their own names, the Edwards brothers' bond bears the signatures of such prominent citizens as Senator W. L. Mauldin, L. M. McBee, H. Endel, W. P. Conyers, T. C. Gower, Alexander Finlay, Q. A. Green, J. Lee Green, A. A. Green and James E. Paynes.

Counsel for the Edwards brothers appeared before Judge Hydeck, in chambers at Spartanburg to-day, and secured an order admitting the defendants to bail.

NEGRO ASSAULTS WHITE GIRL.

Lynching Narrowly Averted—Crime Occurred at Honea Path.

(Anderson Mail, 10th.)
Willis Jackson, colored, charged with criminal assault on the 12-year-old daughter of a prominent citizen of Honea Path, early to-day, was brought to the county jail here, and later taken by automobile to Greenville, and is now en route to Spartanburg, having passed Greenville at 1.50 with several other automobiles, loaded with members of an infuriated mob from Honea Path, only 10 minutes behind, and every man of the mob determined to lynch the negro.

Jackson was brought here about 9.30 o'clock by Honea Path officers, and placed in jail. He had been quietly arrested, identified by his victim and spirited away to jail here. In a short time a mob of infuriated men were in pursuit, and the negro was taken to Greenville. The mob pursued, gaining so much time en route that it was decided to take Jackson to Spartanburg, in an attempt to evade the mob.

At Greenville the Anderson officers having the negro in charge, were joined by Sheriff Poole, and they are now en route to Spartanburg, with the mob only a short distance behind. It is believed that if the officers with the negro are overtaken there will be a lynching.

Much excitement has been created all along the route by reason of the dastardly crime of the negro, and because of the effort being made by Honea Path citizens to overtake and lynch him.

Story of the Crime.

The 11-year-old daughter of a well-known former merchant of the town of Honea Path was criminally assaulted by a negro in a clump of woods near the home there to-day about 7.30 o'clock, and is in a critical condition as the result. A negro suspected of the crime was arrested there about 8 o'clock and hurried to jail here, it being feared that he would be lynched by a mob of angry citizens.

The negro in jail here is Willis Jackson, aged about 17 years, and a delivery boy at a meat market at Honea Path. He was the second negro arrested in connection with the crime, the victim having declared the first suspect arrested to be the wrong man. When Jackson was carried before her she identified him positively, it is said. Twice the negro was taken before the child, and both times she declared that he was the man.

Negro Brought Here.

Officer S. A. Haynes, accompanied by G. E. Moore and M. J. Ashley rushed the negro here as soon as he had been taken before the victim of the horrible crime. They came in an automobile, arriving here about 9.30 o'clock, and the negro was immediately placed in jail. At the time, it was said that a mob of citizens from Honea Path and the surrounding section were en route here bent on lynching the negro.

According to information gathered from those who brought the negro here, the crime was committed in a grove between the home of the victim and the pasture, from which she was returning to the house, after having taken a cow there. She was attacked from behind, being knocked down by the negro, who then accomplished his fiendish purpose.

It was said by those who came here with the negro that the child was in a serious condition as the result of shock and bodily injury. Some of the Honea Path people who came to the city to-day were of the belief that the wrong man had been arrested, and that the right one had evaded the officers and citizens.

Special Term Asked.

Honea Path, Oct. 10.—This town is greatly stirred over the awful crime committed here. The little girl is calm and positive in her identification. She is considerably injured, but is up and about the home, and came to the piazza when one of the suspects was taken to her. Men are pouring into town by all roads and excitement runs high. Calmer heads are doing all in their power to quiet the excited men and Mayor Sullivan has wired the Governor asking for a special term of court to try the alleged guilty party.

Pays Penalty for Fiendish Crime.

(Greenville News, 11th.)
Following positive identification by his victim, and a confession of his guilt, Willis Jackson was strung up to a telephone pole one mile below Honea Path at 11.24 o'clock last night and his body riddled with bullets by a mob.

A long distance telephone message received by the News at an early hour this morning says that the mob returned to Honea Path about 11 o'clock with Jackson. He was carried before his victim and positively identified by her as her assailant. He was then carried to the scene of his crime, where he made a confession of his guilt and expressed sorrow for it and was strung up by his left foot to the nearest telephone pole.

As the negro was being hoisted up he pleaded with the mob to spare his life, but his cries fell on deaf ears. He was swung twenty feet from the ground, and the mob stepped back ready to fire. At 11.24 o'clock a single shot rang out on the night air, followed almost simultaneously by a fusillade.

The mob dispersed quietly, leaving

A FATAL ROW AT SCRANTON.

Robert Parrott Killed—Five McKnight Brothers in Jail.

Florence, Oct. 8.—Five young men, residents of the Scranton section, are in jail here to-day, charged with the killing of Robert Parrott on the streets of that town yesterday evening. Parrott was killed in a general row between the McKnight brothers, the five who are now in jail, and one friend and seven of the opposing faction composed of the Hyman, Bentons and Parrotts. In the riot several of the young men were cut and bruised and one of the McKnight boys in jail here is seriously cut.

Magistrate Baldwin, of Lake City, held the inquest to-day and the verdict of the jury was that Parrott came to his death either by a blow from a base ball bat in the hands of Willie McKnight or by being cut by Lexton and Liston McKnight. Either of the wounds would have been fatal.

The row between the two parties started from a quarrel among their younger sisters and brothers at school last week, which was taken up by the older ones. The father of the McKnight boys sent word to Intendant Cannon, it is stated, that the Bentons and Hyman were threatening a row with his boys and asked that they be arrested and bound over to keep the peace. He was sick in bed and could not go to the town with his boys, but sent an older brother, who did his best to stop the row when the two parties met on the streets. He had gone to get aid when the fighting began and Parrott was killed.

WINTHROP'S SUPPLY FARM.

Fine Herds Furnish Milk and Butter. Winter's Entertainment.

Winthrop College, Oct. 7.—Special: The Winthrop College farm contains 144 acres. It is not an experiment station, but is for the benefit of the dining room. A dairy herd of 78 Jersey cows furnishes milk and butter for college use. The herd and dairy proper are inspected regularly by the sanitary board and by the State Board of Health. There is a large cattle barn, housing 100 head or more of cattle, bought and driven from North Carolina to produce beef for the college. Fall and spring vegetables, greens, turnips, potatoes, etc., are raised; strawberries are also cultivated.

A system of water-works is used at the farm, water being pumped from a deep well, thus insuring the health of the cattle. Girls in walking parties go to visit the farm and see how milk and butter should be handled. Winthrop College, with its limited market facilities, could not be properly run without the farm. All up-to-date machinery and labor-saving devices are employed.

Star Course Entertainment.

The Star Course for 1911-1912 promises to be the best we have ever had. Many prominent speakers and entertainers will be at the college this year. Alfred Tennyson Dickens, son of Charles Dickens, will be here October 20; Ernest Thompson Seton in November; Le Brun Opera Company in January; Brush, The Great, in February; Ben B. Lindsay in March; and five others at different times.

Big Flood Out West.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 10.—With telephone and telegraph service crippled, only meagre reports have been received from the flood swept districts of Northwestern Colorado and Northwestern New Mexico. There is heavy loss of life it is rumored.

From various points come reports of persons swept away by the flood. These include twenty Indians drowned at the Shipwreck colony of the Navajos, and a Mexican family of seven drowned near Blanca, Colo.

Property loss in the flood area is estimated at five million dollars. Residents of the towns in the flood district face a food shortage.

Confirmation of the destruction of the village of Argoles has been received. Every building in Argoles was swept into the San Juan river. Most of the property loss caused by the flood falls upon the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad.

the negro's body dangling from the pole. Five thousand people, it is estimated, witnessed the lynching.

Josh Ashley at Head of Crowd.

In the depths of a forest six miles north of Greenville an armed mob of twenty-five men, headed by "Citizen" Josh Ashley, of Honea Path, a member of Anderson county's legislative delegation, overpowered Deputy Sheriff Van B. Martin, of Anderson county, and Sheriff J. Perry Poole, of Greenville county, yesterday afternoon and took from their custody one Willis Jackson, a 17-year-old negro, charged with criminally assaulting the 11-year-old daughter of a prominent citizen of Honea Path at 7.30 o'clock yesterday morning.

LOCAL NEWS FROM SENECA.

Plea for Revision in Athletics—Items of Local Interest.

Seneca, Oct. 10.—Special: Your correspondent, with many other Seneca citizens, is entering a quiet but firm protest against inter-high school athletics as practiced in Oconee county. Our impression is that the Athletic Association was organized primarily to encourage physical culture among our boys, and incidentally to foster a healthy rivalry between the high schools. The impression among some is to win races, "honestly if you can, but win races." Anent the recent relay race between Seneca and Westminster, it is the duty of the managers of our teams to abide by the rules of the association, if there be any, and to "put up or shut up." The rivalry existing between our schools now is dangerous, and if all wed to run on with an utter disregard for rule or precedent will result in the death of the Athletic Association. We are in favor of athletics in the schools; we are also in favor of a sane and friendly rivalry between the schools; but we are not in favor of inter-high school athletics as practiced to-day. A boy should be instilled with principles that will make a man and a gentleman out of him, and we are convinced that this has been the aim and purpose of the manager of the Seneca team; but if what your correspondent learns is true, there's something "rotten in Denmark," and it should be the business of the officers of the Athletic Association to find the cause and to remedy the same.

On next Sunday, the 15th, a Sunday school rally will be held at the Baptist church. An interesting program is arranged, and an especial feature will be the music. Mrs. R. Anderson, the organist, and Prof. M. E. Brockman, the superintendent, have the program in charge, and the occasion will result in both pleasure and profit. The purpose of the meeting is to bring out every member of the Baptist church, and to awaken a keener interest in Sunday school work. The public, however, is cordially invited to attend the exercises.

Prof. H. T. Cox, of Furman University, will make the address of the morning. His subject will be "The relation of the Sunday school to church and community life." He is a most pleasing speaker and will give something good to the people of Seneca.

Following is the order of exercises for Sunday morning: Song, Onward Christian Soldiers; song, The Fight is On; prayer; reading of lesson of morning; solo, Vision of Eden, by Prof. John Kruschwitz; announcements by the superintendent; assembling of classes for 20 minutes; song, The Cloud and Fire; report of secretary; names of new pupils enrolled; quartet, "The Wayside Cross, by Messrs. Vickery, Blackburn, Brockman and Kruschwitz; address, Relation of Sunday School to the Community; solo, Nazareth, by Prof. John Kruschwitz; song, All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name. Benediction.

Mrs. E. C. Verner returns on Tuesday from Greenville, where she has been visiting for several weeks. The friends of Mrs. O. F. Bacon are glad to learn that she is improving from an attack of diphtheria. While she has been quite sick, her condition has at no time been critical, and friends hope soon to see her out again.

The protracted meeting at the Presbyterian church will continue through this week and Sunday next. Rev. Mr. McIlwain, of Charlotte, is doing the preaching and fine congregations are hearing him. Services are at 10 o'clock in the morning and at 8 o'clock at night.

Miss May Hamilton spent several days the past week with her home-folks here, leaving on Monday for Anderson, where she has accepted a position as trimmer with Mrs. Lee G. Holleman.

Thomas Harper, of Furman University, spent the past week-end with his family here.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Neill will regret to learn that they will move in the near future to Danville, Va., where Mr. Neill has accepted a position. They carry with them the best wishes of their friends.

The numerous friends of the erstwhile "Blossom Family," (well and favorably known to the show-going public) will be interested to learn that they are planning to grace the stage again about Christmas time. A new play, which will embrace all the members of the original family, with several additions, has been selected, and rehearsals will begin at an early date. The cast of characters will be given the public soon and the promise of the "best ever" is made by the managers.

Last Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Nimmons invited a number of their close friends to witness the christening of their baby daughter, Berenice Lee, at their home here. Rev. Mr. Tillinghast, rector of the Episcopal church, officiated, using the beautiful and impressive Episcopal service. Immediately after the ceremony the friends were invited into the dining room adjoining, where refreshments were served. Those invited to witness the impressive services were: Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Nimmons and Misses Sue and Lucia Nimmons; Rupert and Rufus Nimmons and Dr. W. R. Doyle;
